

"Those who genuinely want to help the social justice movement should study the rich and powerful (including the WB, UN, UN agencies, government, parliament, and others), not just the poor and powerless...any knowledge about them at all will be valuable to the movement."

By Susan George as quoted from her book Another world is possible if...

From Anonymous